THE WHOLE THING IS MORE THAN THE SUM OF EVERY PART !

Failures in communication are more dangerous as you might think! The further "up" in the decision making process these failures occur, the more fatal the impact will be. Withal we have the problem of permanently rapid growing information overflow. Scarcely anybody is able to read everything actually important for doing the job. Well often not even to find out what all of it is actually important.

There are useful utilities, first of all search engines, to find yet still the most important informations quickly. But these are then still too much and much too lengthy to get a picture of the case in time. It is better to communicate in pictures straight away. A picture tells you more than 1000 words. It is trenchant, precise and though inspires our imagination. Experience the new world of representational communication with mem-topics© the graphical collaboration management system.
